

DR Acoustics a Canadian manufacturer of power management, power distribution and high end audio cables will be launching several new products at the Toronto Audiofest in room #452.

The patent pending Antigone v2 and Creon v2 power management units in addition of the new Delta Series of cables specially designed to match the sonic characteristics of the new Classé Audio Delta Series.

Two new USB cables featuring pure silver architecture. Furthermore the Black Fire USB have a independant DC power cable will complete the new line up.

All the new cables and Antigone v2 will be connected to the new Classé Audio Delta series amplifiers and pre-amplifier demonstrated for the first time in North America.

DR Acoustics a research and engineering company based in Montréal, Québec, manufactures all its innovative products in Canada with the best components and avant garde conductive materials the market has to offer.

You can reach the chief designer and owner Daniel Robidoux at drobidoux@dracoustics.com.